Required fields must be of the proper format for the field, as must be the appropriate data range and type. The uploaded file contains a mix of the Numeric, Date, Boolean and Text values. These values can optionally be quoted (ASCII 34). The following edits are applied to the different data types:

Data Type	Acceptable Values
Numeric	Must be a positive integer consisting only of the digits 0 through 9. Any value containing a non-digit character will be rejected. For example, -12 will be rejected (the negative sign “-” is not a digit), as will 12.34 (the decimal mark “.” is not a digit). Numeric data is also validated against the range appropriate for the field. Refer to the Data Dictionary for information on each particular field.
Date	Must be in the format MM/DD/YYYY. For example, 01/12/2007. Months and days with only single digit must have a leading zero (i.e. 08 instead of 8). Dates must also be valid dates (i.e. 09/31/2007 would be rejected). The date may have additional constraints based on the value of the SAMPLE_YEAR and SAMPLE_MONTH fields. Refer to the Data Dictionary for information on each particular field. The exception to this rule is the AIDED_CHILD_DOB, which allows a value of 99/99/9999 to indicate an unborn child.
Boolean	May be 1/0, TRUE/FALSE or YES/NO. The value is case-insensitive, so True, TRUE and true are all treated the same.
Text	Text fields can contain a variety of values, including commas (ASCII 44), (ASCII 34) and linefeed characters (ASCII 10, ASCII 13). To prevent E2L from misinterpreting the data, all text data should be delimited with quotes (ASCII 34). For example, because the following text contains commas: This, that, and the other it will be interpreted as three separate data values. To prevent this from occurring, the field should start and end with a quote character (ASCII 34): "This, that, and the other" This will cause the text field to be read as a single field. However, an additional step needs to be taken if the field contains a quote, such as: I said, "Snap!" To prevent the quotes from being treated as delimiters, each quote character (") must be replaced by two quote (") character. For example, the above example would be: "I said, ""Snap!""" The color coding should help clarify the above example – the double quotes in the text are first replaced (in green), and then the entire string is placed in quotes (in red): "I said, ""Snap!""" Empty strings should be output as: "" Other than checking that required text fields are not blank, no other edit is applied to them.
